Join us and be part of Scotland's anti-poverty movement

Membership is open to organisations that share our desire to tackle poverty. We have a sliding scale of fees, although these can be waived for organisations with minimal funding (see overleaf). We encourage members to actively participate in the life of the organisation.

Benefits of membership:

- * Access the latest briefings, reports and publications on poverty in Scotland
- * Attendance at exclusive members meetings and networking events
- * Opportunities to contribute to our policy positions and consultation responses

Full membership is open to civil society organisations – community groups, voluntary organisations, trade unions, faith groups, schools, academic institutions, campaigning groups.

Associate membership is open to all individuals, voluntary organisations and public sector bodies (Health Boards, Local Authorities, etc) and private sector organisations. Associate members do not have voting rights but are involved in all other aspects of our work.

Commercial membership is open to private businesses.
